

Paris, september 25, 2007

Presse release

Insurance passes to the offensive with the new ITN solution.

ITN goes with insurers in their current and future challenges with its new solution : CLEVA.

Planned to answer the market stakes, CLEVA allows insurers to exploit better their insurance-related ecosystem, to differ and innovate in a more reduced time space, to establish customer loyalty optimising and customizing the management process. CLEVA is dedicated to companies, mutual insurance and the main brokers covering the damage insurance and Health & Workers Compensation properties.

Based on a triple appraisal (trade, market and technology), CLEVA has been planned to be a pragmatic solution conducting daily the insurance actors and in the new areas development (internalisation, new market segments...). CLEVA is a full and homogeneous system, built with the will to answer globally and completely to management problems. This value is expressed by the recognition, during the realisation of each component, of complex and fine interactions between the different trade processes.

CLEVA comes in that way to enrich the ITN offer, at the sides of LISOA, SOA trade components library dedicated to insurance keys accounts, and of V9 Assurances, business software package insurance.

"Our market evolves quickly: in a parallel direction to urbanization projects made possible by SOA technology, we notice as well a greatest opening done to business software package, as on business technological aspects as a service level made henceforth to user. With CLEVA and LISOA, ITN becomes the sole editor to position on the both logics in same time (systemic and components), on a common industrial base".

Alain Lemoine , ITN Development Manager

About ITN:

ITN, European publisher of software packages and components for insurance, is the strategic partner of insurance companies and mutual insurance companies, banks that provide insurance services, wholesalers, and brokers, for the optimization and industrialization of information systems.

ITN has designed and developed management solutions with high value added for more than 20 years, making it possible to manage and industrialize all the business processes of property and casualty, health, life, and contingency insurance.

The ITN Group, the first French publisher of insurance solutions given the seal of approval of the "FINANCE INNOVATION" global competitive cluster for its European Research & Development project, is accelerating its international development in 2008 (Belgium, Spain, Italy, Luxembourg, Portugal, Morocco, Madagascar, etc.). www.itnsa.com

Media Contact:

Alain DUBOIS: +33 (0) 1 44 91 81 71
a.dubois@itnsa.com